GEORGIA TECH SEASON IN REVIEW

Final Record: 13-19 • ACC: 6-12 (13th place)

The Starting Lineup

• Georgia Tech posted a 13-19 overall record in its second season under head coach Josh Pastner, and finished 13th in the ACC standings at 6-12.

• Sophomore guard Josh Okogie was voted to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference third team, while senior center Ben Lammers made the ACC All-Defensive team for the second straight year.

• Tech has won 34 games overall and 14 ACC games in the last two seasons, on par or better than the first two years of each of Josh Pastner's predecessors in the ACC era. For comparison, Buzz Williams won 12 ACC games in his first two years at Virginia Tech, same with Tony Bennett at Virginia. Leonard Hamilton and Mike Krzyzewski each won 10. Pastner has won 14.

• Head coach Josh Pastner's Georgia Tech teams are 5-8 against top-25 teams (5-4 at home), including a 2-5 mark this season (2-3 at home). The Jackets knocked off No. 15 Miami and No. 25 Notre Dame in January as part of a 3-1 ACC start.

• Tech has sold out eight games at McCamish Pavilion over the past two seasons, including a facility-record five games in 2017-18. Tech's 29 homecourt wins over the past two seasons are more than any two-year period in the Jackets' ACC era except the 2015-16 and 2016-17 seasons combined (31). That's 43 home wins over the past three seasons, more than 14 per season.

• Pastner, after going winless in the month of February, earned the 200th head coaching victory of his career against NC State and finished his ninth season as a head coach with a 201-108 record.

• Tech played the last seven games without freshman point guard Jose Alvarado, who dislocated his elbow in a fall during the first half of the Yellow Jackets loss to Duke on Feb. 11, and the last 11 games without freshman guard Curtis Haywood II, who was diagnosed with a stress reaction in his right leg following the Jackets' Jan. 31 game against Syracuse. Haywood had also missed six games earlier in the season with a shin injury.

• Okogie's 18.2 points-per-game average was the highest for a Tech player since the 1997-98 season, when Matt Harpring averaged 21.6, and the highest for a Tech sophomore since Harpring averaged 18.6 in 1995-96.

• Okogie became the sixth player in Tech history to reach 1,000 career points during his sophomore season. He finished the year with 1,033 points, fifth-most for a Tech player through his sophomore season.

• Tech finished the season with three 1,000-point scorers on its roster at the same time - Tadric Jackson (1,136), Ben Lammers (1,055), Josh Okogie (1,033) - for the first time since 1989 (Tom Hammonds, Brian Oliver, Dennis Scott) and for the third time in its ACC history (Bruce Dalrymple, Mark Price, John Salley in 1986).

• Tech improved to 6-10 all-time in the ACC-Big Ten Challenge when the Jackets defeated pre-season top-25 Northwestern at home in November.

• Twelve of the teams on Georgia Tech's 2017-18 schedule made the NCAA Tournament field, and 15 earned a spot in a post-season tournament.

• Tech returns seven players who received significant playing time in 2017-18 – 15 or more minutes per ACC game – and combined to start 115 games overall. They accounted for more than two-thirds of total minutes played and 64 percent of Tech's scoring. Five of those players have two or more years of eligibility remaining.

• Tech adds a three-man recruiting class ranked No. 34 in the country for the 2018-19 season, including four-star guard Michael Devoe (No. 55) and three-star forwards Khalid Moore and Kristian Sjolund, and true to staff's objectives, class has varied skill sets and are expected to develop into significant contributors next season and beyond. (building through multiple quality recruiting classes)

• Another addition to the roster for next season – 6-3 guard Shembari Phillips, a high-major conference player already who sat out the 2017-18 season as a transfer from Tennessee, has two years of eligibility. He averaged 6.2 ppg, 3.1 rpg, 37.5 pct. 3s in 2016-17 at Tennessee.

• Tech will still be young next season – three freshmen, four sophomores, three juniors and two seniors among scholarship players returning or incoming – but the process of getting old and staying old is ongoing.

• Pastner must replace two assistant coaches - Tavaras Hardy and Darryl LaBarrie. Hardy was named head coach at Loyola of Maryland in late March, while LaBarrie resigned during the season.

• Tech has sold out eight games over the past two seasons, including a McCamish Pavilion record five games in 2017-18. Tech's 29 homecourt wins over the past two seasons is more than any two-year period in the Jackets' ACC era except the 2015-16 and 2016-17 seasons combined (31). That's 43 home wins over the past three seasons.

Last Game: Jackets Fall Again to BC

Despite two late pushes that cut the deficit to seven and then six under a minute, Georgia Tech men's basketball couldn't complete the comeback, falling to Boston College, 87-77, in the first round of the ACC Tournament.

The Yellow Jackets (13-19) used 18 points off the Eagles' (18-14) 17 turnovers to keep the deficit manageable, but 47 percent shooting and a 47-37 rebounding advantage for BC made the difference.

Senior Tadric Jackson finished with a game-high 29 points and five assists on the day as Ben Lammers finished with 18 points (10-of-12 from the free-throw line) and six rebounds. Josh Okogie was the other Jacket to score in double figures, tallying 14 points as well as six rebounds.

Sophomore forward Nik Popovic scored a career-high 20 points and Jerome Robinson, runner-up for ACC player of the year, added 19 on 5-of-17 shooting for Boston College. Despite going 2 for 14 from 3-point range, the Eagles never trailed and were in control throughout against a Georgia Tech team that struggled to score all season.

Jackson had 23 of his 29 points in the second half for the 13th-seeded Yellow Jackets (13-19), who won their final two regular-season games after losing seven straight and 11 of 12. Ben Lammers added 18 points and leading scorer Josh Okogie had 14 on 5-for-20 shooting.

Jordan Chatman chipped in with 13 points for the Eagles, who had lost four of five.

After trailing by 10 at halftime, Georgia Tech missed its first nine field-goal attempts in the second half and the Eagles opened their largest lead, 51-31, on Bowman's three-point play with 13:37 remaining.

The pressing Yellow Jackets forced a flurry of late turnovers and cut the margin to six with 45 seconds left, but Boston College closed it out at the free-throw line.

BC seized control with an early 9-0 run and went into halftime with a 36-26 cushion. Lammers led all scorers with 11 points in the half.

Team Trends

• Georgia Tech and Boston College faced one another in the opening round of the ACC Tournament for the fourth time in the last six years. The Eagles three of the previous four meetings, including 2013, 2014 and 2015 in Greensboro, N.C. Tech's lone win was a 73-70 overtime decision in 2014.

• The outcome in each of their ACC Tournament meetings has followed suit with the regular-season result. BC won in 2013 after also winning the only regular-season game, Tech won in 2014 after winning both regular-season meetings, and the Eagles won again in 2015 after winning the only regular-season game. Boston College won the only regular-season meeting between the two teams this season, 80-72 in overtime, on Feb. 4 in Chestnut Hill.

• Georgia Tech won its last two home games and finished the season 12-7 at home, is 72-37 in six full seasons in McCamish Pavilion, and 29-11 in two seasons under Josh Pastner.

• Georgia Tech had three players on its roster with 1,000 points (Tadric Jackson, Ben Lammers, Josh Okogie) for the first time since 1989 (Tom Hammonds, Brian Oliver, Dennis Scott), and for just the third time in the ACC era (Mark Price, John Salley, Bruce Dalrymple in 1986).

• For the last five games of the season, freshmen forwards Evan Cole and Moses Wright started alongside Ben Lammers on the front line, with Tadric Jackson and Josh Okogie in the backcourt. Cole started his sixth straight game, and Wright his fifth in a row, ninth overall this season. Georgia Tech has used eight different starting lineups this season.

• Tech has had its full roster to practice only for seven games this season. Injuries or other absences have forced Tech players to miss 46 games cumulatively this season. Freshman Jose Alvarado and Curtis Haywood II both suffered season-ending injuries, Alvarado on Feb. 11 early in Tech's game against Duke, and Haywood prior to the Jackets' Jan. 31 game against Syracuse.

• Ben Lammers was the only Tech player to start every game this season, and has started Tech's last 70 consecutive games. Brandon Alston was the only other player not to have missed a game.

• Tech's playing rotation featured four freshmen and a first-year graduate transfer who have combined to start 68 games and log 43 percent of the Yellow Jackets' total minutes.

• Boston College's 87 points were the second most given up by Georgia Tech this season, one shy of the season high of 88 scored by Florida State on Jan. 24. The Yellow Jackets yielded 75 or more points in eight of their last 10 games.

• BC also hit 29 of 37 shots from the free throw line, both season highs against Georgia Tech and the most the Yellow Jackets have surrendered in the last two seasons.

• Tech forced 17 Boston College turnovers, and scored 18 points from them. The Jackets forced 39 turnovers in their final two games combined.

Player Trends

• Josh Okogie's 1,033 career points are the fourth most ever by a Tech player through his sophomore season, and the most since James Forrest accumulated 1,052 from 1991-93. He finished the 2017-18 season 43rd on Tech's all-time list.

• Virginia was the only team to hold Josh Okogie under 10 points this season, limiting the sophomore guard to nine points in the first meeting on Jan. 18, and seven in the second on Feb. 21. The first game snapped a 25-game streak of double-digit games. He has scoffed in double digits in 38 of his last 40 games, 54 times in 6` career games. He has scored 30 or more three times (two vs. ACC), 20 or more 20 times (12 times in an ACC game).

• Okogie averaged 18.2 points per game after missing the first eight games of the season, including 18.3 in ACC games (fifth-best in league rankings). He averaged 16.1 points as a freshman, 17.1 against the ACC.

• Okogie finished the season as the ACC leader in free throw attempts per game (6.8) and converted 82.1 percent of his 162 total attempts. He has averaged 6.6 attempts for his career and made 77.7 percent.

• Okogie averaged 6.7 rebounds per game in ACC play, third best among league guards, and 6.3 for the season. Okogie snared 99 rebounds in his last 14 games (7.0), including a pair of double-digit games.

• Okogie had 51 assists in his last 17 games, a 3.0 average, dishing a career-high six at Clemson and getting five twice (second meeting vs. Notre Dame and at Florida State) in that stretch. He finished the season averaging 2.45 per game.

• Ben Lammers played the full 40 minutes for the sixth time this season, and for the third time in the last four games. Jose Alvarado logged eight complete games before he was injured, Okogie went start-to-finish five times, and Tadric Jackson had his first and only at Clemson.

• In his final collegiate game, Tadric Jackson matched his career high of 29 points against Boston College (previous 29 also came against Boston College last season at home), matched his career high of five assists and committed no turnovers in 37 minutes. He also established career highs of 13 field goals in 24 attempts, exceeding his previous bests of 12 and 21 last season against the Eagles.

• Jackson started and played the point guard position for the majority of the Jackets' last five games, the first time he has played extensive minutes in that role, and has logged the four highest-minute games of his career (38 at Virginia, 40 at Clemson, 39 vs. NC State, 37 vs. Boston College). The 6-2 senior averaged 18.2 points and shot 43.3 percent from the floor in those five games (15 points at Virginia, 13 at Clemson, 22 points against NC State, 12 vs. Wake Forest, 29 vs. BC).

• Jackson reached double figures for the sixth straight game against Wake Forest following a three-game drought, and for the 21st time in 29 games this season.

• Jackson finished his career with 1,136 points, tied for 35th place with Jim Nolan (1946-49).

• Ben Lammers scored 18 points (4-9 FG, career-high 10 FT in 12 attempts) with six rebounds, four blocked shots, three assists and two steals in his final college game. Lammers averaged 15.4 points, 6.6 rebounds, 3.6 assists and 2.1 blocks over his final five games in college. Lammers had 23 double-digit scoring games this season, 44 over the last two seasons.

• Lammers finished his career with 1,055 career points and holds 41st place. He also finished his career in 10th place on Tech's career rebounding list with a total of 774, and in third place for career blocked shots with 254.

• Lammers averaged 36.0 minutes this season, sixth-most in the ACC (36.3 mpg vs. the ACC), and ranked No. 1 among centers nationally in average minutes played and percentage of possible minutes. Okogie averaged 37.2 minutes in ACC games. Both players rank among the ACC's top 10 in minutes per conference game.

• Abdoulaye Gueye played 14 minutes and scored eight points (4-5 FG) with eight rebounds, his best combined production in points and rebounds since Jan. 28 vs. Clemson (14 and 8).

Pastner's Key Metrics

• Assists to made field goals: Tech assisted on 14 of 29 made field goals (48.2 percent) against Wake Forest, falling short of its nightly goal of 60 percent. The Jackets assisted on 54.3 percent of their made field goals for the season (53.9 percent vs. the ACC), after finishing last season at 62.7 percent (63.2 percent rate in ACC games).

• Free throws made to opponents' attempts: Tech connected on 14-of-19 free throw attempts to Boston College's 29-of-37 (nightly goal of making more than opponent tries not accomplished). For the season, Tech converted 439 free throws, while opponents attempted 569 (207/327 in ACC games). Tech is 30-10 under Josh Pastner when attempting more free throws than the opponent.

• Turnovers: Tech committed 12.8 turnovers per game this season, down from last season (13.4), and 12.7 in ACC games, down from 13.3 last season. Pastner's threshold to win is nine or fewer, which the Jackets accomplished six times this season, four times in conference play.

• Guard rebounding: Tech's guards combined for eight of Tech's 28 defensive rebounds against Clemson. Tadric Jackson, Jose Alvarado and Josh Okogie all averaged 3.6 rebounds per game or higher this season.

Three for 1,000

Georgia Tech finished the season with a trio of 1,000-point career scorers on its roster for the first time since 1989, and for just the third time in the Yellow Jackets' ACC history.

Sophomore Josh Okogie became the latest to reach the milestone with his 22-point game March 3 against Wake Forest, making him the 46th player to do so at 1,033 points.

Senior center Ben Lammers surpassed 1,000 on Feb. 21 at Virginia with a 22-point effort and finished his career with 1,055 points (42nd place). Senior guard Tadric Jackson reached the plateau Jan. 31 against Syracuse and finished his career with 1,136 career points (36th place).

NCAA Final Four floor. The game is played as part of Final Four Friday, which also includes open practices for each of the teams competing in the Final Four.

The 3x3U National Championship pits 32 four-man teams consisting of players from every Division I college basketball conference against each other in a three day, 3-on-3 tournament. These teams, comprised of seniors who have exhausted their collegiate eligibility, compete for a $100,000 prize pool.

Okogie, Lammers Capture ACC Honors

Josh Okogie was named to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference third team, and senior center Ben Lammers earned a spot on the ACC's All-Defensive team for the second straight year in voting announced Sunday by the conference office.

Okogie, a 6-4 guard from Snellville, Ga., led the Yellow Jackets in scoring, finishing at 18.2 points per game, all season despite missing the season's first eight games with a dislocated finger. He ranked fourth in the conference in scoring and led the ACC in getting to the free throw line, 6.8 times a game while converting 82.1 percent of his attempts. A member of the ACC all-freshman team a year ago, Okogie made 38.0 percent of his three-point field goal tries, and 41.6 percent overall from the floor. He scored 20 or more points in a game 11 times during the season, eight of those in ACC games, including 30 against No. 15 Miami in early January and 29 against No. 5 Duke on Feb. 11.

Okogie became the sixth sophomore in Tech history to go over 1,000 career points in the final regular-season game with his 22-point effort in the Yellow Jackets' 64-56 win over Wake Forest.

Lammers, a 6-10 center from San Antonio, Texas, was the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year in 2017, but made the All-Defensive team again in 2018 despite being hobbled by an ankle injury for much of the season. Lammers rankeds third in the conference in blocked shots and 19th in the nation, and anchored a defense that ranked fourth in the ACC in scoring average against and ninth in field goal percentage against.

Lammers also surpassed 1,000 career points, reached third place in program history in blocked shots and 10th place in rebounds.

Josh 2.0

Josh Okogie did not let a late start to his sophomore season slow him down. The 6-4 guard averaged 18.2 points over 24 games following an eight-game absence due to a dislocated finger and an NCAA suspension. It was the highest average for a Tech player since the 1996-97 season, when Matt Harpring averaged 21.6.

Okogie, a preseason second-team all-ACC choice, averaged 18.3 points against ACC teams (also fourth-highest in the conference), including 30 points in Tech's 64-54 win over No. 15 Miami, the third 30-point game of his young career.

He has scored in double digits in 38 of his last 40 games, missing only in Tech's two games against Virginia (nine on Jan. 18, seven on Feb. 21) in 2017-18.

The Snellville, Ga., native has come up big against top-25 opponents at home, averaging 21.9 points in the nine games Tech has hosted against ranked teams at McCamish Pavilion. His career high of 38 came with 14 rebounds last year against No. 6 Florida State.

Thirteen of his twenty 20-plus games at Tech have come against ACC opposition.

He has already accumulated 1,033 points in his career (despite missing eight games), most by a Tech sophomore since James Forrest finished his sophomore season (1992-93 season) with 1,052 (see list on page 5). He became the sixth Tech sophomore to reach 1,000 career points.

"Josh Okogie is one of the best players in our league and was last year as a freshman and certainly hasn't done anything

Okogie Declares for NBA Draft

Josh Okogie declared himself eligible for the NBA Draft, but did not retain an agent in order to retain his athletic eligibility. The 6-4 guard from Snellville, Ga., who earned third-team All-ACC honors, submitted his application to the NBA Undergraduate Advisory Committee and to the NBA ahead of the April 22 early-entry candidate deadline. The application enabled Okogie to work out for NBA teams beginning April 24 and attend the NBA Draft Combine (May 16-20), if invited, and receive feedback on his potential draft status. He must remove his name from the draft by May 30 (NCAA withdrawal deadline) in order to maintain his college eligibility.

Notorious B.E.N.

Ben Lammers no longer had the element of surprise to his advantage this season, but the 6-10 center was no less the focal point of most things Georgia Tech does on both ends of the basketball court.

The senior mechanical engineering major from San Antonio, Texas, made the ACC All-Defenisve team for the second time, remained among the conference leaders in rebounds, eighth overall (81 per game) and seventh in conference games (7.9). He also ranked third in blocked shots (2.4, No. 19 nationally) and ninth in minutes played (36.0, 54th nationally).

"The Laminator" had nine double-doubles in 2017-18, five of them in ACC games, and recorded 25 for his career.

He ranks third in career blocked shots at Georgia Tech (254), 10th in career rebounds (774), and 42nd in career points (1,055).

The 6-10 center appeared more like his 2016-17 self in Tech's final five games, averaging 15.4 points with two 20-plus games, and hitting 51.8 percent shots from the floor.

Lammers has been invited to participate in the NABC Reese's College All-Star Game at the Alamodome during Final Four weekend. He also has been invited to participate in the Portsmouth Invitational, an NBA pre-draft camp for college seniors in April.

Action Jackson

When Tadric Jackson is healthy and playing well, he makes a difference for the Georgia Tech with his ability to penetrate, handle the ball and score in traffic. But he took on a new role in Tech's last five games, handling the Yellow Jackets' point guard duties.

The Tifton, Ga., native, a former Georgia state prep player of the year, averaged 37.8 minutes, including 40 minutes Feb. 24 at Clemson, and averaged 18.2 points and hit 11-of-33 threes over that stretch.

Up until this move, Jackson had been very effective scoring inside for the Jackets, using his strength to get to the rim in traffic, hitting better than 51 percent of his field goal tries. He finished the season No. 2 on Tech's chart with a career-high 12.7 points per game.

The 6-2 senior had been one of the top reserves in Tech history over the past two seasons, but injuries have forced him into the starting lineup in Tech's last six games. He had logged 35 double-digit scoring games off the bench as a Yellow Jacket, 26 of those since the beginning of last season. The senior guard reached double figures 21 times in 29 games overall in 2017-18 and 41 times in his last two years.

His biggest improvement was rebounding - averaging a career-best 3.7 rebounds, twice his career rate, including a pair of nine-rebound games in his last six.

"Tadric Jackson did a great job. He was able to drive us, but more importantly, I thought he did a great job of posting our guards up, which we knew could happen." - NC State coach Kevin Keatts

A.D. is No Lie

Georgia Tech got a big lift from an unlikely source during the early portion of its ACC schedule, junior forward Abdoulaye Gueye (pronounced "AB-doo-lie GAY). During the month of January and into February, the Yellow Jackets saw seen the 6-9 junior become a legitimate offensive force, and not just a disruptor on defense and on the boards.

Known as "A.D." to his teammates and coaches, the likeable Gueye took advantage of a much-improved hook shot to average 6.5 points (50 percent from the floor) and 4.5 rebounds in in ACC games. He has come off the bench in Tech's last four games in favor of freshman Moses Wright after starting 15 straight games.

He has scored in double figures in seven games since conference play began, something completely unforeseen during the non-conference season. In the first 39 games of his career, covering two-plus seasons through the holiday break this year, Gueye had scored a total of 70 points, only once scoring more than six points in a game (13 vs. UT-Rio Grande Valley in November).

"We couldn't stop him at the beginning of the game. Probably were a little surprised at how good he was and how much they went to him, but he was very effective." - Clemson coach Brad Brownell after Gueye scored 14 points with eight boards against the Tigers

Tech's BFFs (Big Freshman Forwards)

Georgia Tech's four-man freshman class was not highly rated in terms of stars, but head coach Josh Pastner views the group of Jose Alvarado, Curtis Haywood II, Evan Cole and Moses Wright as a solid foundation on which to build the Yellow Jackets' program.

With Alvarado and Haywood, the more highly-rated of the group, out for the season with injuries, the other two members of the class have gotten their opportunity to grow. After Tech's Jan. 24 loss at Florida State, Pastner put Cole and Wright in a "red-shirt" program than entailed extra strength and conditioning sessions and extra skill work on the court in addition to the team's regular practices. It has paid off for them and for the Jackets.

On Feb. 11 against Duke, when Pastner was unhappy with the performance of Tech seniors Tadric Jackson and Ben Lammers, he put Cole and Wright in the game for their first extended minutes of the ACC season, and they didn't disappoint.

In the second half of that game, the duo combined for 19 points, 12 rebounds, four assists and three blocks in 41 minutes as Tech pared a 26-point second-half deficit down to 11 in an 80-69 loss. As a result, Cole has started Tech's last five games, and Wright the last three.

"Very good basketball player, can score the basketball inside and out, athletic, runs the floor," NC State coach Kevin Keatts said of Cole. "He's going to be a very good basketball player in the ACC, and that means a lot because you're talking about a kid who was originally signed in the (Colonial Athletic Association)."

"He's a live body, long," Clemson coach Brad Brownell said of Wright. "As he continues to get stronger and grow into his body, he's going to be a good player. He's got some perimeter skills where he can put it on the ground once or twice and get to a place and make a play. He's not a great 3-point shooter yet, but he can make one, and that's obviously going to get better."

Alvarado Freshman Season Cut Short

Freshman point guard Jose Alvarado, recruited to Georgia Tech primarily for his winning attitude, toughness and grit, had been given the green light by head coach Josh Pastner to handle the position, sink or swim, before his freshman season came to an abrupt end Feb. 11 against Duke. He dislocated his left elbow in a fall, which will cause him to miss 6-8 weeks.

The Brooklyn native, the first Tech player from the New York area in nearly 20 years, was up to the task prior to his injury, averaging 12.6 points per game second on the team, 3.9 rebounds and 3.3 assists with an assist/turnover ratio of 77/56. He also shot the ball well, making 45 percent of his shots from the floor, 37.4 percent from three-point distance, and 80.2 percent from the foul line on 80 attempts, second most on the team behind Josh Okogie, who leads the ACC in that category.

Among ACC freshman, he ranked fifth in scoring and fourth in assists, and is No. 4 overall in steals at the time of his injury.

Alvarado posted 16 double-figure scoring games, four times scoring 20 or more. And the 6-foot playmaker averaged more than 39 minutes per ACC game to rank among the league's top five, playing every minute eight times, including four consecutive games before Duke.

He is not the first Tech point guard to earn the starting job as a freshman and handle it well. He follows such Tech greats at Mark Price, Kenny Anderson, Travis Best, Stephon Marbury, Tony Akins and Jarrett Jack, as well as others who started at the position as freshmen without reaching their lofty accomplishments.

"I was really impressed with Alvarado first time seeing him live. His speed and quickness was really good and I thought he played the game with really good poise." - Clemson coach Brad Brownell

Wire-to-Wire

Head coach Josh Pastner is not shy about his philosophy of playing a short bench, reminiscent of the way Bobby Cremins coached the Yellow Jackets over his 19 seasons.

Nationally, according to KenPom.com, Ben Lammers ranks 46th in percentage of possible minutes played (89.6),

Tech played 55 seasons in Alexander Memorial Coliseum, compiling a record of 556-194 (.741). Miami was the last team to play Tech there, a game Tech won, and was the first ACC team to play in McCamish Pavilion, which Miami won. For the 2011-12 season, Tech played its home games at Philips Arena and the Arena at Gwinnett.

while Jose Alvarado ranked 45th (89.3 pct.) before sustaining a season-ending injury 12 minutes into the Feb. 11 game vs. Duke. Josh Okogie logged his fifth 40-minute game against Wake Forest and averaged 36.8 minutes per game, which ranked 37th nationally, and 37.2 in ACC games.

Okogie played 92.3 percent of possible minutes in ACC games, while Lammers played 90.2 percent. Alvarado had played 96.7 percent of possible ACC minutes prior to his injury.

Lammers ranked No. 1 among centers nationally in minutes per game. Alvarado had ranked fifth among freshmen nationally in percentage of minutes played and minutes per game before the Duke game.

The threesome had 20 complete games combined in 2017-18 (eight for for Alvarado, six for Lammers, five for Okogie), and Tadric Jackson joined the group by playing 40 minutes at Clemson. Tech had at least one player play the full 40 in 12 of 19 ACC games (regular season plus tournament).

NOTE: Between the Cremins era and the arrival of Pastner, only one Georgia Tech player played every minute of a game, regulation or overtime, and that was Marcus Georges-Hunt on Feb. 20, 2016, in a win over Notre Dame at home. In the final 15 seasons of Cremins' tenure (1985-86 through 1999-2000), a total of 196 players logged a 40-minute game.

Lineup Shuffle

Georgia Tech utilized eight different starting lineups and a short bench this season, with youth, injuries and other absences factoring in.

Tech's playing rotation this season featured four freshmen and a first-year graduate transfer who have combined to start 68 games (36 ACC games) and log 43 percent of the Yellow Jackets' total minutes (38 percent in ACC games). Eleven of the 16 players on Tech's roster, and six of the 11 eligible scholarship players, are freshman or sophomores.

Injuries or other absences have forced Tech players to miss 46 games cumulatively this season, and that number continues to grow with Jose Alvarado and Curtis Haywood II sidelined the remainder of the season.

Ben Lammers was the only Tech player to have started every game this season (68 straight). Grad transfer Brandon Alston was the only other player not to miss a game.

Assisted Living

Georgia Tech coach Josh Pastner preached and prodded his Yellow Jackets on ball and player movement from the first time he got his team on the practice court. His primary measuring stick on how well the Jackets perform offensively is their ratio of assists to made field goals.

In Pastner's first season, the Yellow Jackets ranked 13th nationally, according to KenPom.com, in highest percentage of assists to made field goals at 62.6 percent, the team's highest rate since the 2000-01 season. Tech's number was 63.2 percent in ACC games. Pastner's nightly goal is 60 percent.

Tech did not perform as well in that department in 2017-18, assisting on 54.6 of its made field goals overall, 53.9 against ACC teams, and missing Pastner's 60-percent bar 14 times. Tech remained above the national average (52.5 pct.) in that category.

Tech's top assists-to-made field goals ratios: 1987-88 – 68.3; 1988-89 – 65.9; 1986-87 – 65.8; 1992-93 – 65.0; 1985-86 – 64.8; 2000-01 – 62.9; 1999-00 – 62.9; 2016-17 - 62.6

StraitJackets

Due to its ability to play different defenses and keep opponents off balance, Georgia Tech held most of its opponents below, significantly below in several cases, their scoring averages.

The Yellow Jackets held all but five opponents under their season scoring average this season, many of them significantly lower. At 67.3 points allowed per game, Tech ranked fourth in the ACC and No. 57 nationally in scoring defense.

Thin Gold Line

Some of Georgia Tech's most successful teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference era have had thin benches and a trio of players who averaged more than 35 minutes per game in ACC play, beginning with the Yellow Jackets' first ACC Championship team in 1985, dubbed the "Thin Gold Line."

• Most significant among the opponents Tech held well below their averages were UCLA (82.6 ppg, 63 vs. Tech), Northwestern (74.0 ppg, 51 vs. Tech), Bethune-Cookman (78.9 ppg, 62 vs. Tech), North Texas (78.4 ppg, 49 vs. Tech), Wofford (77.0 ppg, 63 vs. Tech), Notre Dame (79.8 ppg, 68 and 53 in two games vs. Tech), Miami (74.9 ppg, 54 vs. Tech), Yale (77.4 ppg, 60 vs. Tech) and Syracuse (70.0 ppg, 51 vs. Tech). Even Duke, which led the ACC in scoring average at 89.1, scored 80 against Tech.

• In terms of adjusted offensive efficiency, Tech ranked No. 6 in the ACC in points per 100 possessions against the conference (104.8), No. 61 nationally in all games (98.9).

• Tech's strengths lay in two-point field goal defense (19th at 45.4 pct,), block percentage (15th) and steal percentage (44th).

In 2016-17, Tech ranked No. 6 nationally in adjusted defensive efficiency (91.0 points allowed per 100 possessions). Tech ranked fourth in the conference in scoring defense (66.8 ppg) and No. 1 in FG percentage defense (39.8 pct.).

Winning Starts at Home

Georgia Tech and head coach Josh Pastner have made a priority of making McCamish Pavilion a real homecourt advantage for the program, and the Yellow Jackets made a good start on that by setting a program record for wins at home (17) last season, which included a 7-2 ACC record and two NIT victories.

Tech is 12-6 against ACC teams at home under Pastner, and that includes a 5-3 mark against ranked opponents.

The Jackets' 60-53 win over No. 25 Notre Dame on Jan. 10 was just the latest triumph in a list that includes eventual NCAA champion North Carolina (No. 9 at the time), No. 6 Florida State and No. 15 Notre Dame last season, as well as a 64-54 win over No. 15 Miami on Jan. 3 this season. Tech's only losses came to No. 9 Louisville last January and to No. 2 Virginia and

TECH NOTEBOOK

Media Guidelines

Georgia Tech's practices are generally closed to the public and the media, but coaches and players are available during the hour prior to practices most non-game days. Notices will be distributed weekly to confirm the schedule.

TV stations are allowed to shoot B-roll during the first 15 minutes of those practices.

Media are asked to notify Mike Stamus the day before of their need to attend and to make specific student-athlete requests.

Interview requests with student-athletes that need to be conducted at other times must be made through the Georgia Tech communications office at least 24 hours in advance. These interviews will be conducted at a time and place convenient to the student-athletes availability and class schedule.

Media are asked not to contact student-athletes directly either by phone, e-mail, text or social media. They are instructed not to respond. Every effort will be made to make them available.

Interviewing Coach Pastner

Media wishing to speak with Coach Pastner either before a practice or at other times must notify Mike Stamus in the communications office in advance to make or confirm arrangements. He also is available each Monday on the ACC Teleconference (10:40 a.m.) beginning January 8.

Post-Game Protocol

Both head coaches will hold a post-game press conference in the designated interview room (Shah Media Room at McCamish Pavilion).

Student-athletes requested by the media will be brought to the interview room following the coaches press conferences, when the team is at home, outside the team's locker room when the team is on the road.

Josh Pastner Radio Show

Head coach Josh Pastner's weekly radio show airs each Monday from 7-8 p.m. live on "680 the Fan" and 93.7 FM, beginning Dec. 4.

ACC Coaches Weekly Teleconference

The 15 ACC head basketball coaches will be featured on nine Monday teleconferences during the 2016-17 season, beginning on Monday, January 8, 2018, and continuing through February 26. Each coach will have 10 minutes to make an opening statement and answer questions. There will be an instant replay of each teleconference on the Conference's internet site TheACC.com each Monday afternoon.

Georgia Tech head coach Josh Pastner will be on the teleconference at 10:40 a.m. each week.

Coaches that play on Monday in January and February are not required to participate in that day's call. The teleconference schedule for each Monday will adjust somewhat for the head coaches whose teams do not play that Monday night.

Contact the ACC media relations office at 336-851-6062 for the call-in number and for questions on the schedule.

No. 18 Clemson this season.

Tech is 29-11 overall at McCamish Pavilion under Pastner.

Third Time Not the Charm

Georgia Tech's Dec. 6 loss at Wofford ended a distinction for head coach Josh Pastner that had been a personal point of pride, and a measure of consistent success. Until then, Pastner had never lost three straight games in eight seasons as a head coach, never in seven years at Memphis and not during his first season at Georgia Tech.

Only one other power conference head coach and program could make that claim over the last eight seasons, and that was John Calipari and Kentucky. Calipari also has sustained his first three-game losing streak this season, and the Wildcats have lost their last four games.

Seven ACC teams lost three in a row last season. Tom Izzo and Michigan State lost three straight last season. Roy Williams and North Carolina lost three straight in 2013-14. Kansas and Villanova lost three in a row in 2012-13.

That Tech has been able to avoid a three-game skid last season was remarkable; the Yellow Jackets lost two in a row on six occasions, and lost two straight bridging the end of the season and this year's season opener against UCLA.

The most improbable victories that stopped those streaks from continuing were a win Dec. 7 at VCU on Dec. 7, the Rams' only home loss this season, Jan. 25 at home vs. No. 6-ranked Florida State, a No. 3 seed in the NCAA Tournament, and its first-round NIT win over Indiana, a No. 3 seed.

Win	Followed losses to
D7 at VCU	Penn State and Tennessee on the road
J12 vs. Clemson	at Duke and Louisville at home
J25 vs. Florida State	at Virginia Tech and Virginia
F7 vs. Tusculum	at Clemson and Wake Forest
F28 vs. Pittsburgh	NC State at home and at Notre Dame
M14 vs. Indiana	at Syracuse and Pitt (ACC Tournament)
N19 vs. Bethune-Cookman	vs. TCU in NIT and UCLA in China

Hyder Inducted into Atlanta Sports Hall

Former Georgia Tech basketball coach John "Whack" Hyder was inducted posthumously into the Atlanta Sports Hall of Fame on Feb. 16. Hyder began his career in Atlanta as a Yellow Jacket student-athlete, lettering in baseball, basketball, track and cross country during his time on The Flats (1933-37). After a brief departure in which he spent three years in the New York Yankees' minor league farm system, he returned to Georgia Tech to be its head basketball coach from 1951 to 1973. The second-winningest coach in Tech basketball history, Hyder amassed 292 wins and led the Jackets to their first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance in 1960, making the Elite Eight. Hyder also coached the team to the NIT championship game in 1971 — the second-straight appearance in the tournament. Hyder was inducted twice into the Georgia Tech Sports Hall of Fame, both as a player in 1960 and a coach in 1983, and had his banner raised during the 2003-04 season.

Jackets' Signing Class Ranked No. 34

Georgia Tech's 2018 signing class is ranked No. 34 in the nation in a composite ranking published by 247Sports.

Tech signed a trio of 4-star high school prospects – 6-3 guard Michael Devoe of Orlando, Fla., 6-7 forward Khalid Moore of New York, N.Y., and 6-9 forward Kristian Sjolund of Katy, Texas - to national letters-of-intent during the November signing period.

All three prospects are highly regarded for their talent level, versatility and upside as head coach Josh Pastner continued to build the Yellow Jackets' program.

Devoe has been rated ranked No. 62 in the Rivals 150, and No. 56 in the ESPN 100 (No. 15 point guard in the nation.

He attends the same high school that sent All-American Kenny Anderson to Georgia Tech in 1989, and he was a teammate of current Tech freshman Jose Alvarado on the New York Rens AAU team.

Sjolund is rated a 3-star prospect in the composite 247Sports ranking (No. 56 small forward, No. 18 in Texas), as well as a 4-star by ESPN (No. 36 small forward, No. 17 in Texas). He was born in the state of Washington but grew up in Norway, and has lived in the United States since 2014. He played for the Shooting Stars Red AAU team. Sjolund played with Norway in the 2015 FIBA u16 European Championships, averaging 18.7 points and 5.9 rebounds a game. Then in 2017 he played in the U18 Nordic Championship and scored 7.2 points a game.

Year 2 of Rebuild for Tech Basketball

Georgia Tech played its 103rd season of basketball in 2017-18 under second-year head coach Josh Pastner, the 14th head coach in program history.

Pastner, 40, compiled a 167-73 record over seven seasons as the head coach at Memphis, where the Tigers earned bids to the NCAA Tournament four times. He was tied for the 10th most wins for a head coach in his first seven seasons in Division I basketball history, and was the second winningest active coach under the age of 40 in NCAA Division I.

Despite his young age, Pastner has been involved in basketball at the Division I level for 20 years, as a player and an assistant coach at Arizona, and as an assistant coach and the head coach at Memphis. He has been a part of teams that have won 490 games, played in 17 NCAA Tournaments and 18 total post-season events. Teams he has been involved with have won 12 conference tournament or regular-season championships, advanced to seven Sweet Sixteens, five Elite Eights, two Final Fours and two NCAA championship games.

In year one, Georgia Tech played in its first National Invitation Tournament championship game in 46 years in 2017, capping an inaugural season under head coach Josh Pastner that defied all pre-season projections and expectations. Tech won 21 games and an 8-10 ACC record for the second straight year after being picked to finish 14th in the conference.

Along the way, the Yellow Jackets knocked off No. 9 North Carolina, the eventual national champion, No. 6 Florida State and No. 14 Notre Dame, as well as Boston College, Clemson, Pittsburgh and Syracuse in conference play.

Tech defeated Indiana and Belmont at home in the first two rounds of the NIT, completing a school-record 17-win home schedule, then went on the road to defeat Ole Miss to reach its first NIT final four since 1971. Once there, the Yellow Jackets won their semifinal game over CSU Bakersfield before losing in the championship game to TCU.

Pre-Season Storylines for 2017-18

• Sports Illustrated rated Georgia Tech's defense No. 6 in its pre-season projection of the top 50 defenses in Division I.

• Ben Lammers (first team) and Josh Okogie (second team) were named to the preseason All-Atlantic Coast Conference team by the media at the conference's annual Operation Basketball media day.

• Lammers was on the preseason watch lists for the John R. Wooden Award (national player of the year) and the Lute Olson National Player of the Year Award.

• Lammers was also one of 20 Division I players named to the preseason watch list for the Kareem Abdul Jabbar Award, given annually to the nation's top center.

• The ACC media and Blue Ribbon Basketball Yearbook both projected Georgia Tech to finish ninth in the 15-team ACC, and both tabbed Ben Lammers to the pre-season All-ACC team.

• Despite the fact that Georgia Tech lost six seniors from the 2016-17 squad, its top three scorers and two of its top three rebounders from that team - Josh Okogie (16.1 ppg, 5.4 rpg), Ben Lammers (14.2 ppg, 9.2 rpg) and Tadric Jackson (12.1 ppg) - returned for Pastner's second season on The Flats. Five players who averaged 10 or more minutes per game returned for 2017-18.

• Georgia Tech was the only ACC team that had three returning players who averaged 12 points or more per game in 2016-17.

• This year's Georgia Tech team has only two seniors - second-team All-ACC center Ben Lammers and guard Tadric Jackson, who finished second in the ACC Sixth-Man Award voting - and 11 eligible scholarship players altogether. The other holdovers include ACC All-freshman guard Josh Okogie, 6-4 sophomore point guard Justin Moore, 6-9 junior forward Abdoulaye Gueye and 6-10 sophomore center Sylvester Ogbonda.

• The Yellow Jackets welcomed four freshmen and two transfers, and turned over their entire walk-on group, meaning there were 10 new faces on the 16-man roster. Guard Brandon Alston, a graduate transfer from Lehigh University, has two years of eligibility remaining and was eligible to play immediately. Guard Shembari Phillips, a transfer from Tennessee, also has two

• Reflecting growing interest in Georgia Tech's program in Year 2 under Josh Pastner, 15 of the Yellow Jackets' 31 regular-season games will be televised on an ESPN network, including five of the team's non-conference games. Three other non-conference games will be aired either on the ACC Network or the ACC's Regional Sports (Cable) Network. Every ACC game will be televised.

• Twenty-six of Georgia Tech's 31 regular-season games will be broadcast on linear broadcast television, a program record, including all 18 Atlantic Coast Conference games. Fifteen of those 26 televised games will air on one of the ESPN networks.

Pastner's Winning Staff

• Head coach Josh Pastner and all three assistant coaches played major conference Division I basketball - Eric Reveno at Stanford (1985-89), Tavaras Hardy at Northwestern (1998-2002), Julian Swartz at Wisconsin (1999-2000 before transferring) and Pastner at Arizona (1993-97).

• Tech's coaching staff has participated in 32 NCAA Tournaments collectively - Reveno has been involved in eight NCAA Tournaments as a coach and one as a player; Hardy in three as a coach; Swartz in two as a coach and one as a player; and Pastner in 13 as a coach and four as a player.

• Pastner has one former Georgia Tech player on his staff director of player personnel Mario West, a non-scholarship player under Hewitt (2003-07) who was on two NCAA Tournament teams and went on to play two years in the NBA.

• Only two members of Pastner's staff at Memphis, Swartz and director of scouting Tyler Benson, followed him to Georgia Tech.

Five Tech Alumni on NBA Rosters

Since 1982, Georgia Tech has produced 18 first-round NBA draft picks and 45 draft picks overall. A total of 38 Georgia Tech alumni have played in the NBA.

Five former Georgia Tech basketball stars were on NBA rosters when the 2017-18 season began.

Marcus Georges-Hunt, a 2016 graduate, made the opening roster for the Minnesota Timberwolves after seeing limited action late last season with the Orlando Magic.

Iman Shumpert, a six-year NBA veteran, began his third full season in Cleveland after helping the Cavaliers win the NBA championship in 2016, and was traded before the deadline to Sacramento.

Thaddeus Young, in his 11th NBA season, is in his second season with the Indiana Pacers after two years in Brooklyn.

Derrick Favors has emerged as a key figure in his seventh season in Utah.

Jarrett Jack, a 13-year NBA veteran who suffered a knee injury two season ago while with Brooklyn, played only briefly with the New Orleans Pelicans late last season and has become a starter this season with the New York Knicks.

Arts and Letters

Beginning with Moe Miller and Lance Storrs in the summer of 2011, every four-year senior in the Georgia Tech program has graduated. Tech's 2018 seniors, Tadric Jackson and Ben Lammers, were both on track to compete their degree requirements in the spring (Jackson) and fall (Lammers) semesters.

Derek Craig and Nick Foreman received their Tech degrees in 2012, as did the 2013 senior class of Mfon Udofia, who finished his business administation degree work in the summer, and Pierre Jordan, who completed his Masters degree requirements in building construction in the spring. Brandon Reed graduated in the summer with his management degree before transferring back to Arkansas State to play his final year of basketball.

All three of Tech's four-year seniors in 2013-14 - Kammeon Holsey, Daniel Miller and Jason Morris - graduated that spring. Robert Sampson, the Jackets' only undergraduate scholarship senior in 2014-15, graduated in the spring.

From the 2015-16 squad, Marcus Georges-Hunt walked the stage at commencement in May, accomplishing the rare feat of graduating in four years. Point guard Travis Jorgenson, who elected not to use his final year of eligiblity, will receive his degree in December.

From the 2016-17 team, Josh Heath, Corey Heyward (fifth-year because of an injury redshirt in 2012-13) and Quinton Stephens all graduated in May of 2017, while Rand Rowland finished his requirements and received his degree in December of 2016. Both graduate transfers, Kellen McCormick (summer of 2017) and Jodan Price (fall of 2017), received their Masters degrees.

Georges-Hunt and current senior Tadric Jackson have made the Academic All-ACC team twice, and the Yellow Jackets have had at least one player named to that team since it was instituted for the 2010-11 season.

Tech's men's basketball team has recored the highest Academic Progress Report scores the last four years since the NCAA began tracking academic performance in 2004-05. The Jackets scored a perfect team single year APR score of 1000 three straight years from 2011-13.

Welcome to The Hank

Georgia Tech has played five seasons in McCamish Pavilion, which was for all intents and purposes, brand new when it opened for the 2012-13 season. The only physical elements of McCamish Pavilion that remain from the venerable Alexander Memorial Coliseum are the roof, which was re-covered, and the 32 steel ribs that support it.

The capacity of McCamish Pavilion is 8,600, including 1,665 seats in the new balcony level and 6,935 seats in the lower seating bowl. There are no suites, but there is a premium club area that seats 500. Alexander Memorial Coliseum seated 9,191 spectators in its final configuration.

The most impressive features of McCamish Pavilion are its grand entrance, which fronts 10th and Fowler Streets, the ability for patrons to view the court from the main concourse all the way around, and the theatrical lighting system, which concentrates light on the court while leaving the seating areas dark, modeled after the Staples Center in Los Angeles and Madison Square Garden in New York.

Tech played 55 seasons in Alexander Memorial Coliseum, compiling a record of 556-194 (.741). Miami was the last team to play Tech in Alexander Memorial Coliseum, a game Tech won, and was the first ACC team to play in McCamish Pavilion on Jan. 5, which Miami won. For the 2011-12 season, Tech played its home games at Philips Arena and the Arena at Gwinnett.

Coaches on McCamish Pavilion

"Tremendous atmosphere. Golly. We love the opportunity to play in the NIT but, as a lot of you know, sometimes places don't get as excited about that as they ought to. This place was excited about an NIT game and it was a great atmosphere." - Belmont coach Rick Byrd following Tech's NIT win on March 19

"Well first of all, it was a great atmosphere and a fun place to play a game. It is my first time in this facility." - North Texas coach Grant McCasland on Nov. 24

"The student section was great; the crowd was great. It's been great that the crowd came out. And I tell you, even coach [Tom] Crean said this at shootaround today because he [was the analyst for] our game today [on ESPN2], he mentioned the crowd and the atmosphere. He said this is one of the best home-court advantages that we've got in the country that he's been around." - Tech coach Josh Pastner following Northwestern victory Nov. 28

Tech's NCAA Tournament History

Georgia Tech played in the NCAA Tournament five times in 11 seasons under head coach Paul Hewitt and has played in the event 16 times in its history. Fifteen of those appearances have occurred from 1985 to the present.

Tech has a record of 23-16 in NCAA Tournament play, highlighted by its 2004 trip to the NCAA title game as well as a Final Four berth in 1990. The Yellow Jackets have reached the NCAA Sweet 16 seven times (1960, 1985, 1986, 1990, 1992, 1996, 2004).

The 2004 and 2005 appearances were the Yellow Jackets' first back-to-back appearances since Bobby Cremins led the Institute to the Big Dance nine straight years from 1985-93.

Georgia Tech has won at least one game in 11 of its 16 NCAA Tournament appearances.

Tech's ACC Tournament History

Georgia Tech has played in 39 ACC Tournaments, and has a 26-36 all-time record in the event. The Yellow Jackets have won three championships, in 1985 (Atlanta), 1990 (Charlotte) and 1993 (Charlotte).

Tech has been a runner-up four times (1986, 1996, 2005, 2010). The 1986, 1996 and 2010 runs to the finals occurred in Greensboro. Tech also made the finals in 2005 at the Verizon Center in Washington, D.C.

Tech was 0-2 in the ACC Tournament under coach Dwane Morrison, 15-16 under Bobby Cremins (including all three titles), 9-11 under Paul Hewitt (runner-up in 2005 and 2010), 2-5 under Brian Gregory. and 0-2 under Josh Pastner.

BIO UPDATES

Head Coach Josh Pastner • 2nd season

Josh Pastner, who guided Memphis to five post-season berths in seven seasons as the Tigers' head coach, was introduced as Georgia Tech's 14th head basketball coach on April 8, 2016, and wasted no time in getting the Yellow Jackets back to the post-season.

In his first season at the helm, his Yellow Jacket team defied all pre-season expectations by winning 21 games, including four in the National Invitation Tournament. Tech posted an 8-10 ACC record, which included victories over No. 9 North Carolina, No. 6 Florida State and No. 14 Notre Dame, who all finished among the top four in the ACC regular season. He was named Coach of the Year in the ACC and in NABC District 2.

Pastner also was honored at the "Most Positive College Coach" in Georgia by Positive Athlete Georgia, an organization which promotes the benefits of positivity among young athletes.

Implementing a high-energy style of play and creative offensive and defensive schemes, Pastner and his staff guided the Yellow Jackets all the way to the finals of the NIT for the first time in 46 years. Two of his players earned all-Atlantic Coast Conference honors; junior center Ben Lammers was named second-team All-ACC and ACC Defensive Player of the Year, while freshman guard Josh Okogie was named to the ACC All-Freshman team.

At the same time, Pastner tirelessly promoted the program on campus and throughout the city of Atlanta in an effort to re-create the atmosphere that surrounded the Yellow Jackets throughout the 1980s, 1990s and into the middle of the 2000s. The result was a program-record 17 home wins at McCamish Pavilion, which sold out three times in the regular season and became a big homecourt advantage for the Jackets during their NIT run.

Pastner, who turned 40 early last season, compiled a 167-73 record over seven seasons as the head coach at Memphis, where the Tigers earned bids to the NCAA Tournament four times. He tied for the 10th most wins for a head coach in his first seven seasons in Division I basketball history, and is the second winningest active coach under the age of 40 in NCAA Division I. He is the 14th head coach in Tech's program history.

Despite his young age, Pastner has been involved in basketball at the Division I level for 21 years, as a player and an assistant coach at Arizona, and as an assistant coach and the head coach at Memphis. He has been a part of teams that have won 524 games, played in 17 NCAA Tournaments and 19 total post-season events. Teams he has been involved with have won 12 conference tournament or regular-season championships, advanced to seven Sweet Sixteens, five Elite Eights, two Final Fours and two NCAA championship games.

As an NCAA head or assistant coach and an AAU head coach, he has coached nearly 25 NBA draft selections.

Pastner's Memphis teams averaged 23.9 wins per season and compiled a conference regular-season record of 82-36, including a conference winning streak of 28 games. The Tigers went 11-4 in Conference USA and American Athletic Conference tournaments, including three championships.

He guided Memphis to five post-season berths, the NIT in 2010 and the NCAA Tournament in 2011, 2012, 2013 and 2014. Pastner twice won Conference USA Coach of the Year honors (2010, 2013) by various organizations and news media.

A native of Kingwood, Texas, Pastner was born in Glen Dale, W.Va. He earned his bachelor's degree in family studies in December of 1998, in just two and a half years, from Arizona and his master's degree in teaching and teacher education from Arizona in December of 1999, all while lettering four years in basketball for the Wildcats under head coach Lute Olson.

He married the former Kerri Lamas of Sierra Vista, Ariz., in 2009. He has a stepson (Ethan) and three daughters, Payten, Kamryn and Harper.

• Tough, gritty, high motor point guard who became an ironman running the Jackets' offense until suffering a dislocated left elbow 12 minutes into Tech's Feb. 11 game against Duke … Sidelined the remainder of the season

• Started every game as Tech's primary point guard prior to his injury, ranking fourth in the ACC at 39.2 minutes per game … Ranked fourth among freshmen nationwide in overall minutes per game (35.9) and percentage of minutes played (89.3) … Logged eight complete games (seven in ACC play), including all 45 minutes in Tech's OT loss at Boston College

• Ranked fourth in the ACC in steals (1.8 per game), No. 1 among freshmen at time of injury … Had team-high 3.1 assists per game

• Third on Tech's scoring chart at 12.1 points per game, 10.2 per game against the ACC … Ranked fifth among ACC freshmen in scoring, fourth in assists

• Eleven double-figure games in the last 16, 16 altogether as a freshman … Averaged 13.2 ppg in last six games (27-61 FG, 14-31 on threes) prior to Duke

• Topped 20 points four times (22 vs. Grambling State, 23 vs. Wright State, 23 vs. Yale, 23 at Florida State)

• Shot the ball well from three-point range (37 pct.), knocking down four threes in a game four times, including at North Carolina and Florida State

• Excellent at the foul line (80.2 percent on 81 attempts, third on the team in both)

• Snared season high of seven rebounds three times

• Named New York City Catholic League player of the year as a junior in 2015-16, led Christ the King, the No. 19 team in the nation entering the 2016-17 season, to the New York City title twice

• Ranked the No. 9 player in the state of New York and No. 33 in the nation at his position by ESPN

- Named is pronounced "ab-doo-LIE - GAY"
- Wiry "stretch-4" forward with long arms who plays on the interior but is quick and athletic enough to defend the wing ... Also plays the "5" position to back up Ben Lammers
- Started 15 straight games prior to Virginia on Feb. 21, averaging 8.5 points (52 pct. FG) and 5.8 rebounds, with 14 assists, 22 blocks and 12 steals ... Double-figure points in seven of those games
- Averaged 6.5 points (50 pct. FG) and 4.5 rebounds in ACC play, averaging 22.3 minutes (career-high 39 at Louisville)
- Played just 27 minutes last four reglar-season games with Moses Wright getting the starts, but came off the bench to play most of the second half of Tech's ACC Tournament game against Boston College (14 minutes, eight points, 4-5 FG, eight rebounds)
- Started first eight games of the season, 23 total
- Disruptive on the defensive end (33 blocked shots, 20 steals), became a dependable scorer in the post and a good passer on the offensive end (33 assists)
- Tech's third-leading rebounder (4.4 per game) overall ... Snared six or more rebounds in 13 games
- Scored career-high 16 points at Pittsburgh on Jan. 13, matched career-high nine rebounds against Yale and Louisville
- Started Tech's first three games last season and then came off the bench exclusively after that, working at both post positions ... Playing time was slowly rising when he suffered a fractured left wrist on Feb. 1 at Clemson, did not play after that

13 • Curtis Haywood II • F • 6-5 • 198 • Fr.

- Long-armed and athletic wing who started seven straight games after coming off the bench against UCLA ... Missed the next six games due to a shin injury, and was sidelined again beginning with the Jan. 31 Syracuse game due to a stress reaction in his right leg, which sidelined him the remainder of the season
- Averaged 18.7 minutes in seven games in between, but hit just 4-for-20 from the floor ... Scored nine points on three three-point field goals against Virginia, his most threes since Dec. 1
- Averaged 5.3 points and 3.9 rebounds in 15 games, hitting 37 percent of his shots from three-point range
- Picked things up quickly early in the season, averaging 34.0 minutes over six games before injury while reaching double figures in four (10.2 ppg, 18-of-34 FG, 12-of-22 on 3s)
- Hit 37 percent (17-of-46) from three-point range for the season, including a season high of 5-of-7 from against North Texas
- Had 35 assists against just 17 turnovers
- Excellent shooting ability, basketball IQ, and defensive skills ... Has a 6-foot-11 wingspan
- Led Brewster Academy to a 33-0 record, a NEPSAC (New England Prep School Athletic Council) AAA championship, and the Bobcats' fifth national championship in the last eight seasons

GAME NOTES

BIO UPDATES

1 • Tadric Jackson • G • 6-2 • 203 • Sr.

• Named ACC sixth man of the year of the year by HoopsHD.com

• One of the top reserves in the ACC last season, finished second in voting for the conference's Sixth Man Award, and has picked up where he left off after sitting out the season's first three games on an NCAA suspension

• Played majority of possessions in last five games at point guard, logging the most minutes played of any games in his career (38 at Virginia, 40 at Clemson, 39 vs. NC State, 35 vs. Wake Forest, 37 vs. Boston College) ... Averaged a team-high 18.2 ppg over that stretch, 33.3 percent on threes, 17 assists

• Averaged a career-high 12.7 points for the season (10.6 in ACC games), hitting double digits in 21 games

• Went out by matching his career high of 29 points against Boston College in the ACC Tournament (previous 29 also came against Boston College his junior season at home), matched his career high of five assists and committed no turnovers in 37 minutes

• Scored 26 points in an early-season loss at Wofford, 22 against NC State on March 1 ... Finished the season with six straight double-figure games

• Averaged a career-best 3.7 rebounds, twice his career average coming into this season (career-high nine vs. Coppin State and Notre Dame)

• Finished his career with 1,136 points, tied for 35th place on Tech's all-time scoring list, and 102 three-point field goals

• Scored in double figures off the bench in 37 games during his career, 28 since the beginning of his junior season

• Scored or assisted on two buzzer-beating baskets the last two years ... Scored the game-winning layup at the buzzer against Northwestern in November, and assisted on Josh Okogie's winning layup last season against Notre Dame

• Played in 131 games in his career, second most all-time to former teammate Quinton Stephens (135)

• Named to the ACC's official All-Defensive team for the second straight year, and by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association ... Named ACC defensive player of the year by HoopsHD.com

• Battled a severe ankle injury for most of Tech's non-conference schedule (sustained it in Tech's third game against UTRGV) and hardly practiced, but still averaged 35.8 minutes (sixth in the ACC, 31st nationally)

• Felt back to normal only in the last two weeks, and his performance supported that, 15.4 ppg, 51.8 percent FG, 18 assists and 11 blocks in his last five games

• Finished fourth on Tech's scoring chart at 11.7 points per game and first in rebounds (8.1 per game, 7.9 in ACC games, ranked eighth) ... Struggled with his shooting this season (46.2 percent from the floor, 43.5 percent in ACC games)

• No. 3 in the ACC, No. 19 in the nation, in blocked shots (2.44 per game)

• Had nine double-doubles, including 24/10 vs. UCLA, both games against Notre Dame, vs. Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Boston College ... Had 25 for his career (all since the beginning of last season)

• Scored in double figures in 23 of 32 games including a high of 24 against UCLA, 22 vs. Coppin State, 22 at Virginia, 20 vs. NC State ... Season-high 16 rebounds at Pitt

• Scored 17 points and took nine rebounds against Tennessee, matching career bests for free throws made and attempted (7-for-9)

• Finished his career in third place on Tech's all-time list for blocked shots with 254 and 10th in career rebounds (774)

• Reached 1,000 career points at Virginia, the 45th Tech player to reach that milestone, finished in 41st place with 1,055

• Played 40+ minutes six times as a senior (11 for his career), and averaged 36.9 in ACC games ... No. 1 among centers nationally in minutes played and percentage of minutes played

• Much improved free throw shooter over the course of his career, 74.1 percent over his last two seasons ... Hit just 21-of-43 his first two seasons

GAME NOTES

BIO UPDATES

5 • Josh Okogie • G • 6-4 • 213 • So.

• Named third-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference on the official team, honorable mention by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association

• Versatile perimeter player whose length, athletic ability and basketball IQ enable him to compete at all three perimeter positions ... Can impact the game at both ends of the court and is a multi-dimensional offensive threat

• Preseason All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection who missed the first six regular-season games due to an NCAA violation, but was sidelined for eight games altogether due to a dislocated left index finger he suffered in the Jackets' exhibition game against Georgia State

• Scoring average of 18.2 per game ranked fourth in the ACC was the highest for any Tech player since Matt Harpring finished the 1997-98 season at 21.6, and was the highest for any Tech sophomore since Harpring posted 18.6 points per game in 1995-96 (Kenny Anderson scored 25.9 points per game in 1990-91 season) ... Rich Yunkus (24.1 in 1968-69) and Dennis Scott (20.3 in 1988-89) are the only other Tech sophomores to average 20 or more.

• Averaged 18.2 points in ACC games (ranks fifth), scoring 20 or more points seven times

• Scored in double figures in 22 of his 24 games on the season, missing only against Virginia (nine points on Jan. 18, seven on Feb. 21) ... Reached double figures 54 times in 61 career games

• Scored 20 or more 20 times (13 times in ACC games), 30 or more three times in his career ... Scored 30 in Tech's win over No. 15 Miami on Jan. 3, 29 vs. Duke on Feb. 11

• Best in the ACC at getting to the free throw line (6.8 FTA per game) and converted 82.1 percent on a team-high 162 attempts ... Ranked 10th in percentage

• Averaged 6.7 rebounds in ACC play, third-best for an ACC guard, and only one player ahead of him was shorter than his 6-4 height (Ky Bowman of Boston College) ... Grabbed career-best 16 at Florida State, most ever by a Tech guard in an ACC game

• ACC All-Freshman team choice last season who ranked third among ACC first-year players in scoring at 16.1 points per game ... Recorded the fifth-highest scoring average for a freshman in Tech history

• Has already accumulated 1,033 points in his career, most by a Tech sophomore since Matt Harpring finished his sophomore season (1995-96 season) with 1,021 ... Sits in 43rd place on Tech's all-time scoring list

12 • Moses Wright • F • 6-9 • 210 • Fr.

• Raw, but athletic froncourt player who has played basketball competitively only since age 14 before signing with Tech last spring ... With development, has the ability to impact the game at both ends with his shooting, rebounding and shot-blocking ability

• Received his most extensive playing time since before Christmas with an average of 23.1 minutes over Tech's final eight games, including a season-high of 35 at Virginia ... Averaged 4.3 points and 4.9 rebounds ... Had played very little in Tech's first 11 ACC games

• Started four straight games (8.3 ppg, 5.5 rpg) around the holiday before seeing his minutes curtailed when ACC play began ... Had played a total of 19 minutes in five games over a 12-game span for Tech before Tech's Feb. 11 game against Duke, in which he had nine points and seven rebounds in 20 minutes

• Scored a season-best 19 points (8-9 FG) with seven rebounds and three steals in a season-high 27 minutes against Florida A&M ... Had four points, six rebounds, one assist, one block and one steal in 26 minutes at Georgia

• Grabbed a season-high eight rebounds against Bethune-Cookman ... Scored six points each against Tennessee and Wofford

• Had five big rebounds in 17 minutes against Northwestern

• Has grown four inches and added 40 pounds since his sophomore year in high school ... Has good athleticism and shot-blocking ability ... Has a 7-foot-2 wingspan

• First North Carolina native to sign with Tech since Anthony Morrow (Charlotte), who played at Tech from 2004-08 and is an eight-year NBA veteran
