GEORGIA TECH COACHES

HEAD COACH

JOSH PASTNER

After guiding Memphis to five post-season berths in seven seasons as the Tigers' head coach, Josh Pastner became Georgia Tech's 14th head basketball coach on April 8, 2016 and within a five-year period, returned the Yellow Jackets to the NCAA Tournament and guided the program to its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 28 years.

Implementing a high-energy style of play and creative offensive and defensive schemes, and building the Jackets' talent base for the future, Pastner has established the Yellow Jackets as one of the top defensive teams in the nation, while he and his staff have steadily improved the team's offense to be ranked in the top half of the Atlantic Coast Conference the last two years. Those efforts, as well as improving efforts in recruiting, produced Georgia Tech's first Atlantic Coast Conference Championship since 1993 and its first berth in the NCAA Tournament in 11 years in the 2020-21 season.

Pastner has tirelessly promoted the program on campus and throughout the city of Atlanta in an effort to re-create the major homecourt atmosphere that surrounded the Yellow Jackets throughout the 1980s, 1990s and into the middle of the 2000s. The result has been numerous wins, high excitement and 13 sellouts in four pre-pandemic seasons at McCamish Pavilion, and a school-record 11 consecutive home ACC wins over the 2019-20 and 2020-21 seasons.

ERIC REVENO

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

Reveno joined Josh Pastner's men's basketball staff at Georgia Tech as assistant coach on May 6, 2016 and was promoted to associate head coach on Nov. 1, 2019.

Tech's starting centers during his five years - Ben Lammers, James Banks III and Moses Wright - have made the ACC's All-Defensive Team every year.

JULIAN SWARTZ

ASSISTANT COACH

Swartz was named an assistant coach on Josh Pastner's staff in August of 2018. He helped guide Tech's defense to a national ranking of No. 37 in efficiency in 2018-19 and No. 17 in 2019-20. In 2020-21, Tech became the top team in the ACC and one of the best in the nation in forcing turnovers and steals to boost its offense.

ANTHONY WILKINS

ASSISTANT COACH

An Atlanta native, Wilkins joined Tech's basketball staff in June of 2018.

The Yellow Jackets have risen into the top half of the ACC in scoring, field goal percentage and three-point shooting during his three seasons. While Tech guards Jose Alvarado and Michael Devoe developed into two of the ACC's top 10 scorers.

TODD STANSBURY

Director of Athletics

Todd Stansbury, a Georgia Tech alumnus and football letterwinner, was introduced as the Institute's ninth director of athletics on Sept. 22, 2016.

In his fifth year as the director of athletics at his alma mater, Stansbury oversaw one of the most successful years in Georgia Tech history in 2020-21. Most notably, Georgia Tech athletics earned a 44th-place finish in the Learfield IMG College Directors' Cup standings, which is the nation's most-recognized all-sports ranking for college athletics, with points awarded based on teams' finishes in NCAA Championships.

Despite the challenges presented by the Covid-19 pandemic, the Yellow Jackets had 11 of 17 teams participate in NCAA postseason play. The 11 teams in the NCAA postseason were Tech's most since a school-record 12 teams contributed towards the Directors' Cup standings in 2009-10.

Just three years ago (2017-18), Tech only had three teams that earned Directors' Cup points and placed 121st in the final standings.

DR. ÁNGEL CABRERA

Institute President

Ángel Cabrera is the 12th president of the Georgia Institute of Technology. Cabrera came to Georgia Tech on Sept. 1, 2019, after serving for seven years as president of George Mason University (GMU) in Fairfax, Virginia.

A top-10 public research university in the U.S., Georgia Tech has outstanding programs in business, computing, design, engineering, liberal arts, and the sciences. With 40,000 students and more than 170,000 living alumni who work in business, industry, and government throughout the world, Georgia Tech has become internationally recognized for the quality of its educational and research programs.

Under his leadership, more than 5,700 members of the Georgia Tech community contributed to a new 10-year strategic plan that launched in November 2020. The plan is grounded on a new mission statement that reaffirms Tech's commitment to "developing leaders who advance technology and improve the human condition."

DR. BARATUNDE COLA

Faculty Athletics Representative

Baratunde A. Cola knows just what it takes to be a student and an athlete at the highest collegiate level.

A professor of heat transfer, combustion and energy systems in the George W. Woodruff School of Mechanical Engineering, Cola was named faculty athletics representative (FAR) to the Georgia Tech Athletic Association with his three-year term beginning in July 2020. The FAR serves as the liaison between the Institute and the Athletic Association on issues regarding rules compliance, developments at the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), and activities related to Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) membership.

Cola began his education at Vanderbilt University where he was a football student-athlete and the starting fullback in 2002. He graduated with a bachelor's of education degree after winning the football program's dedication award, before going on to earn his master's degree from Vanderbilt in 2004.

ZELNAK CENTER

With an eye toward helping Georgia Tech's basketball teams with their practice scheduling and provide better resources for skill development, the Yellow Jackets utilized a former parking area to build a 20,000-square-foot basketball practice facility called the ZelnaK Center.

Ground was broken for the facility in April of 2009, and the building opened in October of that year. The facility underwent a major rebrand and refresh in 2020.

Spurred by a lead gift from Steve and Judy ZelnaK, the facility was built at a cost of $5 million and was built in a span of six months and opened in time for the beginning of pre-season practice in October of 2009. ZelnaK is chairman, president and chief executive officer of Martin Marietta Materials in Raleigh, N.C., and a current member of the Georgia Tech Advisory Board.

The ZelnaK Center is connected to the southeast side of the McCamish Pavilion and includes floor space the size of one and a half basketball courts with eight baskets, a 24-seat theater for video instruction and the 2,500-square-foot Robert A. Anclien Strength and Conditioning Center. Heery International was the architect for the project, and Gay

Construction Company of Atlanta was the contractor.

The James K. Luck Building, which opened in 1987, is a two-story complex located adjacent to McCamish Pavilion and houses the Yellow Jackets' locker room, a fueling station and game room and the NBA Lounge reception area.

The locker room underwent a major renovation in 2017, and what formerly served as a weight room for the Yellow Jackets was converted into a game room complete with flat screen televisions, table tennis and billiards, as well as a fueling station for the student-athletes.

Tech's Class of 1961 raised the money and led the effort to build the $1 million annex in celebration of its 25th anniversary.

The building is named for Jim Luck, the late Tech assistant director of athletics who spearheaded construction of the facility. Luck, a Tech graduate and a member of the Institute's Sports Hall of Fame, served as an assistant football coach for 22 years and head baseball coach for 20 years before moving into administration.

Miller Direct Advertising Supports Local Businesses In The Atlanta Area.

COVID-19 virus has directly affected everyone's health and finances. Small local businesses are suffering the most during this pandemic so we wanted to give back to our community by donating banners to local restaurants like THERE BAR, RIGHTEOUS ROOM and HOPSTIX in the Brookhaven Chamblee area. They needed to make customers aware that these businesses were still open, and we were there to help. Do you know a struggling Restaurant around the Atlanta area? Text the number below and request a free sign! Miller Direct will donate $1,000 worth of banners and signs to restaurants in need. Let's keep our community strong and thriving!

Students represent 50 states and 149 countries. Its engineering and computing Colleges are the largest and among the highest-ranked in the nation, and the Institute also offers outstanding programs in business, design, liberal arts, and sciences. With more than $1 billion annually in research awards across all six Colleges and the Georgia Tech Research Institute (GTRI), Georgia Tech is among the nation's most research-intensive universities. It is an engine of economic development for the state of Georgia, the Southeast, and the nation.

Georgia Tech's mission is to develop leaders who advance technology and improve the human condition. Its mission and strategic plan are focused on making a positive impact in the lives of people everywhere. For more than 135 years, the people of Georgia Tech have dared to imagine and then create solutions for a better future. The innovative culture and leadership continue, for Progress and Service for all.

TECH TRADITIONS

Ramblin' Wreck Fight Song

The Georgia Tech fight song grew out of an old folk ballad, "The Sons of the Gamboliers."

Howard D. Cutter, a member of Tech's first graduating class (Mechanical Engineering, 1892), wrote in the November-December 1942 issue of the Georgia Tech Alumnus that the "Ramblin' Wreck" had its origins during the first two years after Tech opened in 1888, inspired when the entire student body traveled to Athens to see Tech's baseball team defeat Georgia.

By the early 1900s, "Ramblin' Wreck" was an established tradition. The earliest existing published version of the song appeared in the Blueprint, the Institute's yearbook, in 1908.

In 1910, Michael A. Greenblatt, Tech's first bandmaster, discovered the band playing "Ramblin' Wreck" to the tune of "Sons of the Gamboliers," and made his first arrangement of the song in the form of a handwritten manuscript.

When Frank Roman succeeded Greenblatt as bandmaster in 1911, he wrote a new adaptation of "Ramblin' Wreck," accompanied by many trumpet flourishes, that became nationally known. His is the version that continues to be popular today.

The fame of the song spread to such proportions that in 1959 it was sung by Richard Nixon and Nikita Khrushchev at their historic face-to-face meeting in Moscow.

In 1984, the law firm of Newton, Hopkins & Ormsby investigated the copyright of "Ramblin' Wreck" and found that a number of people have had various versions of the song copyrighted. The original version of the song is in the public domain and can be played without payment of royalties.

*I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech and a hell of an engineer,
A helluva, helluva, helluva, helluva, hell of an engineer,
Like all the jolly good fellows, I drink my whiskey clear,
I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech and a hell of an engineer.*

*Oh, if I had a daughter, sir, I'd dress her in White and Gold,
And put her on the campus, to cheer the brave and bold.
But if I had a son, sir, I'll tell you what he'd do.
He would yell, "To Hell with Georgia," like his daddy used to do.*

*Oh, I wish I had a barrel of rum and sugar three thousand pounds,
A college bell to put it in and a clapper to stir it around.
I'd drink to all good fellows who come from far and near.
I'm a ramblin', gamblin', hell of an engineer.*

White and Gold

In the fall of 1891, before Georgia Tech organized a football team of its own, a game was scheduled between Auburn and Georgia. A rivalry was already established in baseball between Tech and Georgia, so Tech students were invited to the game to cheer, of course, for Auburn.

The students appointed a committee to recommend colors to be worn and cheers to be used at the game. The committee suggested white and gold, and about 200 students attended the game wearing those colors.

In 1893, when Georgia Tech's football team played Georgia for the first time, a group of young women from the Lucy Cobb Institute for Girls attended the game to cheer for Tech, dressed in white and gold.

*Oh well it's up with the White and Gold
Down with the Red and Black
Georgia Tech is out for the victory
We'll drop the battle axe on Georgia's head
When we meet her, our team is sure to beat her
Down on the old farm there will be no sound
Till our bow-wows rip through the air
When the battle is over, Georgia's team will be found
With the Yellow Jackets swarming around.*
